

Writing a Series

- A series is three or more related words, phrases, or clauses that come one after the other.
- Use commas to separate the items in a series.
- It is recommended to use a comma before the conjunction that separates the last item in a series.
- Items in a series help to show, rather than tell, by using sensory details.
- Make sure items or actions in a series joined by and are parallel (e.g., nouns go with nouns, verbs go with verbs).
